

ADVICE,

Sent from His Majesties
Commissioners in Scotland :

To both the Honourable Houses of Parliament in England.

January. 15. 1642.³

For composing the present differencies and Distra^c ctions in this Kingdome,

Wherin is expressed their hearty desires and ends for settling and establishing the affairs of the same, in a peaceable and faire way, for His Majesties honour and Contentment, and happinesse of His Kingdomes.

Printed at Edinburgh, 1642.³

ADVICE

Sent from His Majesties
Commissioners in Scotland:

To both the Honourable Houses of Parliament in England.

London: 1642.

For supplying the present necessities and desires of the Kingdoms.

Wherein is expressed their humble desires and ends
for settling and establishing the affairs of the Kingdom, in a peaceable and lawful way, for
His Majesties honour and Continuance, and happiness of the Kingdoms.

Printed at Edinburgh: 1642.

ADVICE

SENT FROM

His Majesties Commissioners

IN

SCOTLAND

TO

Both houses of PARLIAMENT.

January 15. 1642:3

OUR Treaty concerning the Irish Affaires, being so often interrupted by the emergent Distractions, gives us occasion earnestly to desire your Lordships, and these Noble Gentlemen of the House of COMMONS, for

A 2.

to

(2)
to present to the Honourable Houses of Parliament;

THAT we have taken into consideration, the manifold Obligations of the Kingdome of Scotland to our Native and Gracious Sovereigne his Person and Government, confirmed and multiplied to the great and rescent favours bestowed by His Majestie on that Kingdome, at his last being there, and settling the troubles thereof;
and considering the mutual interest of the King-domes, in the welfare and prosperitie of each other, acknowledged, and established in the late Treaty, and finding our selves warranted and obliged by all means to labour to keepe a right understanding betwix the Kings Majestie and his people, to confirme that Brotherly affection began betwix the two Nations, to advance their Unitie, by all such waies as may tend to the glory of God, and Peace of the Church and State of both Kingdomes, to render thanks to the Parliament of England, for their assistance given to the Kingdome of Scotland, in settling the late troubles thereof wherein next to the Providence of God, and the Kings Majesties Justice and goodnesse, they doe acknowledge themselves
most beholding to the mediation, and Brotherly kindenesse of the Kingdome of England, and likewise to proffer our service for removing all Jealousies and mistakings which may arise be-twix the Kings Majestie, and this Kingdome, and our best endeavors for the establishment of the affaires, and quiet of the same.

OUR

We doe therefore in the name of Parliament and Kingdome of Scotland acknowledge ourselves, next to the Providence of God, and his Maiesties justice and goodnesse most beholding to the mediation and brotherly kindnesse of the Kingdome of England in many respects, and Especially in Condescending to the Kings Majesties downe comming to Scotland in the midst of their great affaires whereof we have tasted of the sweet and comfortable fruits, and doe heartily wish the like happinesse to this Kingdome.

And as we are hearty sorry to finde our hopes thereof deferred, by the present distractions daily growing heare to greater height, And out of the sense thereof, have taken the boldnesse to send our humble and faithfull advice to the Kings most Excellent Majestie for the remedding of the same, to the just satisfaction of his people; So out of our duty to his Majestie and to testifie our brotherly affection, to this Kingdome, and acquit our selves of the trust imposed upon us.

Wee doe most earnestly beseech the Honourable Houses in the Depth of their wisdom, to think timously upon the fairest and fittest wayes of Composing all present differences; To the glory of God, the good of the

(4)

the Church and State of both Kingdomes, and to his Majesties honour and Contentment wherein if our faithfull endeavours may be any wayes usefull , we shall be most ready at all occasions to contribute the same.

15 January 1642.

Ja. Primrose.

